Outdoor Xmas Tree Next Friday Evening

Committees from the Ocean Beach Woman's Club and the Chamber of Commerce are completing preparations for a glorious outdoor Christmas tree festival next Friday night, Dec. 24, at the corner of Cable street and Newport avenue. The community celebration will commence at 8 o'clock and there will be a series of beautiful tableaux, with appropriate Yuletide songs by the Woman's Chorus, assisted by various bands of carol singers who will meet at the scene of the Christmas tree. There will be a sure-enough Santa Claus, who will present candy and holiday tokens to the children in attendance. John P. Mills has provided from his Point Loma property a magnificent tree which will be decorated and illuminated in gorgeous style, and the occasion will be made a very merry one for young and old alike. Be there!

CHRISTMAS EVE CAROLING AT OCEAN BEACH

Christmas caroling through Ocean Beach neighborhoods will be a fine community feature of Christmas Eve. The Ocean Beach Lumber Company is donating trucks to take the carolers about. Everyone who wishes to help with the singing around the Community Christmas tree is invited to join a practice of carols with the woman's club chorus Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce building on Bacon street.

'Trudy' Ederle Takes Dip In Pacific Surf

PEGGY MAE HUNSAKER
HAPPY OCEAN BEACH HOSTESS TO FAMOUS SWIMMER

Gertrude Ederle, who has achieved wide fame as the first woman to swim the English channel, was an Ocean Beach visitor as guest of Peggy Mae Hunsaker, 2232 De Foe street, last Monday. Those in the party were Florence Chambers, Olympic backstroke swimmer, Mrs. Chambers and Helen Ederle, sister of the noted swimmer.

"Trudy" and her party were shown the many civic improvements and beach beauty spots, but she especially showed a liking for the formation of our Ocean Beach coast line—the contrast of the rocky formations and sandy beach.

A quite half hour was spent in the sunshine, watching the waves and resting, away from all the hurried routine of her busy life. "Trudy" is just a natural, healthy girl, with all the curiosity of a normal girl to see everything interesting. She expressed a wish to have a romp and swim in the ocean. So one morning this week she took a dip in the surf at Ocean Beach.

Florence Chambers is our old time chum of Trudy's and they had much to talk about concerning the good times they had together while training in New York.

Peggy Mae Hunsaker, the hostess, is club instructor for Florence Chamber's Swimming Club, and the gracious wife of Verne Hunsaker, a well known Ocean Beach mail carrier. She was very proud and happy to have so an important guest as Miss Ederle and did everything possible to impress the glories of Ocean Beach on "Trudy's" mind, so she would tell the folks back home about this wonderful section of sunny Southern California.

Carol Singers Sought For Christmas Eve

EVERYBODY INVITED TO FORM JOYFUL BANDS
IN BEACH DISTRICTS

Miles of streets covered by bands of carol singers on Christmas Eve is the plan of the Community Service Christmas Committee. This beautiful custom from Merry England has been adopted to the interests of family groups in America, where nearly 2,000 cities have the outdoor caroling between the hours of 6 and 7.

Ocean Beach had several groups of singers out last year and additional ones are being formed. It is to be hoped that the entire beach district will be covered this year, so that no one need be disappointed in having an opportunity to take part in or hearing the carols.

The committee have issued a number of suggestions to help in getting started. Every family is invited to form a band of carollers, the best way being to invite the children next door and their parents. Three or four families going together and serving the territory nearest their homes for the home is the ideal way. Groups are asked to register at the Community Service office, 645 A street, where words and music for the carols and patterns for capes and hoods may be obtained free. Phone Franklin 2225.

STRAND THEATRE

The pictures to be played at the Strand the coming week are of the very highest entertaining quality and above the average. This Saturday Jane Novak and Lightning, the Wonder Dog, will be seen in "Lure of the Wild," a story that is laid in nature's outdoors and gives a chance for some wonderful scene shots. The comedy is "Mysterious Mystery," a gang comedy and the news weekly.

Sunday and Monday the big super comedy special "We're in the Navy Now," with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton needs no recommendation. The picture is just closing a four weeks run in San Diego and has been the talk of the whole country, and Ocean Beach is very fortunate in getting this picture so soon which puts the Strand in the same class as the city theatres. There will also be "Fables" and the usual two reel comedy.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Lillian Gish and John Gilbert are starred in "La Boheme," a powerful drama by that master director, King Vidor. The story is tense and gripping and will hold your attention to the very finish. "Lots of Grief" is the title of the comedy and with the news weekly will make a good evening's entertainment.

Thursday and Friday "The Greater Glory" with Conway Tearle and Anna Q. Nilsson and a strong supporting cast is a picture that will please the whole family. The eighth chapter of "Strings of Steel" and "The Mad Racer" comedy will finish up a week of good pictures.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Peggy Tatum's class is now holding first place in the gym department at Point Loma "Hi," which means that they are excelling in everything. Peggy Lyman, Carolyn Roscoe, Margaret Canago and Elsie Bill danced the Highland Fling at the Point Loma Assembly. Evelyn and Elizabeth Einhouse played the violin and Virginia Lee Carrison played the piano. Jack Ferguson's P. L. H. S. orchestra favored the Assembly with several members.

Kris Kringle At Point Loma Hi

The Point Loma High School faculty enjoyed a Christmas party given at Mrs. Swenson's new bungalow last Tuesday. Christmas gifts were presented to each faculty member by Santa Claus. A beautiful vase was given to Mr. and Mrs. Swenson as a gift from the faculty.

The Senior B Class rings came out Thursday, December 16. Members of the Senior B's purchased the class rings, and all are proudly displaying them. The rings are of gold, with enamel trimmings and are very attractive.

The Point Loma Hi-Y Club gave a Christmas benefit show Wednesday, December 15, for use in aiding the needy families of our city at Christmas time. The show was made up of short acts and jazz music by the Hi-Y Orchestra. The students of Point Loma patronized the show generously and there is a Merry Christmas assured for several poor families as a result.

A Christmas vacation will take place during the next two weeks. The Reporters' Chief will not write its usual weekly articles until the first week in January.

Miss Reely, librarian, has received several copies of the Senior High Colateral Reading Lists, which she has distributed among the students.

Students and teachers welcome Miss Laura Fenton, Home Economics teacher, who has returned to school after a few days' absence caused by the death of her mother.

Mrs. Rogers has been substituting in the Home Economics department, teaching both sewing and cooking. Eddy "Michy" Dyer, former Point Loma all start athlete, sent Mr. Ross and all the school a Christmas greeting from Alabama.

TO SAN DIEGO

If you can sign write, paint, do carpenter work or otherwise contribute to the making and erecting of a large sign on the north highway leading through Mission Beach, leave word to that effect with E. Paynter, Al Lamba or F. Jennings of the Chamber of Commerce committee on highway publicity. This sign is designed to place before the eyes of every motorist coming from the north the advantages and attractions of the new scenic marine route to San Diego, leading through Mission Beach, Ocean Beach and historic Point Loma with the "million dollar view,"—conceded to be one of the three most beautiful in the world. Mr. Al Lamba has generously offered lumber for constructing the sign, Mr. E. J. Wonder is arranging for obtaining a site, and Mr. Kidney of Pacific Beach, through Mr. Turner, offers to donate cash toward the enterprise. The results of this will help every property owner, resident and business man, not only of Mission Beach but along the entire scenic ocean route to San Diego. Suggestions for a name for this route will be greatly appreciated as a movement is on foot to petition for the adoption of a more comprehensive and distinctive name. The first step will naturally be the substitution of the newly selected name in place of Mission boulevard.

There are five different designs—a Dutch scene, by Roy Takahashi; an elaborated candlestick holder, by Virginia Davidson; a Roman boat by Martha Marrs; a winter scene by Helen Christenson, and a Jack-in-the-box by Robin Johnson. It is hoped that many cards will be sold, as the proceeds are to go toward buying something for the school.

Rubbish Containers Switched To Street

NEW RULING ISSUED
BY OPERATING DEPARTMENT
CONCERNING COLLECTIONS

Employees of the city operating department have been notifying beach residents of a new system inaugurated this week for the collection of rubbish and trash. Instead of placing boxes, barrels and other rubbish receptacles in the alleys, as has been the custom, residents are instructed to put them on the outer edge of the sidewalks in front of their residences for collection early every Monday morning. The new ruling is stated to be due to the bad roadway conditions existing in many alleys during the winter months.

CITY WILL BUY LANDS

BECOMING DELINQUENT
ON SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS

For the benefit of property owners as well as to protect them from becoming victims of "land sharks", the city council this week decided to enact such legislation as will be necessary to permit the city itself to bid in all property that has been put up for sale because of delinquent light, current assessments and street closing and street opening assessments. These assessments, as a rule, are very small, but if a property owner does not know he owes them he is likely to lose his property.

NEW AIR MAIL RATE

A bulletin has been issued by the U. S. postal department announcing that on Feb. 1 a countrywide air mail postage rate of 10 cents a half ounce would become effective. This rate will carry parcels and letters anywhere in the country, including transfer to one or more air routes and the necessary railway mail routes.

"BY THEIR ASSOCIATES"

"YE SHALL KNOW THEM"

When the Creator had made all the good things, it seemed there was still some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts, and the reptiles, and the poisonous insects; and when He had finished He still had some old scraps left over that were too bad to put into the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion, and the skunk; so He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it a Knocker.

This product was so fearful to contemplate that He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a sunbeam, put into it the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped it in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, made it a believer in equality and justice, a worker for and supporter of every good thing in the community, and called it a Booster; and thenceforth mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates.

VITAMINE FRUITS

OLD Mother Nature has lavished the world with delightful fruits in season; short and blissful some of the seasons are, but did you ever notice, that the fruits which she has made rich in vitamins are with us all the year? Such fruits as oranges, lemons, grapefruit and limes. The value of such fruits has long been known, but it is only in recent years that we have understood why they are so valuable in the diet—they are rich in vitamins, the valuable elements which promote the growth and add vigor to children and adults. Very young babies are now given orange juice strained, beginning with a teaspoonful and increasing the amount as they grow. Orangeade and lemonade are the most commonly used drinks in all hospitals, for it is nature's way to give a pleasant tonic.

Lemon Sherbet.

Soak two teaspoonfuls of gelatin in cold water for five minutes; boil two cupfuls of sugar and four cupfuls of water and the grated rind of a lemon for five minutes; add the softened gelatin, remove from the heat and stir until it dissolves. Chill, add one-half cupful of lemon juice, strain and freeze.

Lemon Velvet Sherbet.

Take the juice of three lemons, two cupfuls of sugar, one quart of rich milk and freeze.

Frozen Punch.

Boil one and one-half cupfuls of water with two cupfuls of sugar, with a small bunch of mint, for five minutes. Chill, add three cupfuls of weak tea or ginger ale, one-half cupful of lemon juice and two cupfuls of orange juice. Chill, strain and freeze.

Orange Frosting for Cake.

Mix the grated rind of one orange with three tablespoonfuls of orange juice and one teaspoonful of lemon juice, let stand fifteen minutes. Strain into one beaten egg yolk, beat and add gradually confectioner's sugar until of the consistency to spread. An ordinary ginger bread recipe flavored with grated orange rind and the moisture partly supplied by the juice of an orange, using the above frosting, is a combination out of the ordinary and especially appetizing.

EACH DAY SET A TASK

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

EACH day to set yourself a task And finish it—my boy, men tell A thousand separate ways to ask Success or fame—new ways they sell, New ways they teach—but, old or new, There is no other way to do.

Each day to dream yourself a dream, And then to make the dream a fact— Well, men may lotter, men may scheme, But who would dream must also act, Or all that life will ever bring Is but the shadow of the thing.

Each day to set yourself a goal And then to never turn aside, Yes, not desert your dreaming soul Until your soul is satisfied— Well, men may lotter, men may Who won in any other way.

Each day to aim a bit more high, Each day to gaze a bit more far, For what you wish to be to try, And never quit until you are— Ah, there's the secret—never quit! Select a task, but finish it!

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham Bonner

CHRISTMAS FOOD

"It seems such a pity," said one of four bananas, "that we are so plentiful in the house around Christmas time."

"Why do you say that?" asked a large red apple in this same fruit dish.

"Well," said the banana, "at some times of the year there is hardly anything to eat in the house. Of course there are the three meals to be had, but there is not much extra food."

"For instance, if a member of the family is hungry between meals there may be something to eat but not very much."

"Now at Christmas time there is more than can possibly be eaten."

"Little Melly is very fond of bananas but she doesn't get them very often. Now she is eating so much else that she hardly pays any attention to us."

"Last night she ate a member of our family and enjoyed it, but she had nibbled at so much else that she did not eat it with the same relish as she would have done at some other time."

"There are salted nuts now and nuts to be cracked and eaten."

"There are many apples and pears and bananas and grapes."

"There are lots of oranges and tangerines."

"There are fruit cakes and cookies and biscuits and muffins."

"There is homemade candy and bought candy and hard candy and candied fruit."

"There are stuffed dates and stuffed prunes."

"There is so much food, too, that even after big meals the family can have delicious cold food."

"There is vichy to drink and gingerale and extra milk."

"Really the house is full of food."

"And that is the way it always is around Christmas time."

"I'd be for scattering some of the food throughout the year."

"By scattering it I don't mean dropping it here and there but just Very Fond of Bananas.

dividing it and having it at other times."

"Well," said the big red apple, "what you say is very true but then it is fun to have so much food around at Christmas time."

"Even if there is so very much it is part of the Christmas season to have lots of everything."

"Then people come to the house and they are given some good things to eat, too."

"Little boys bringing packages are given goodies."

"Besides some things just seem to belong to Christmas such as the popcorn and the cranberry jelly and the hard candy and the quantities of fruit and the chocolate Santa Claus gentlemen."

"I say we sing a song about Christmas food."

"It won't be a song that one can take in the mouth and eat but it can be sung from the mouth!"

So the Christmas food sang this song:

We belong to Christmas, yes, we do, We nuts, and fruit and raisins, too, We like to be eaten with appetites hearty. For we're all a part of the Christmas party. We belong to Christmas, full of cheer, That's why so much food is here!

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The Martinez-Benevia Ferry Company has filed with the railroad commission a new passenger tariff reducing effective December 12, 1926, the one-way passenger fare between Martinez and Benevia from 15 cents to 10 cents. This places the company on the same fare basis as the Rodeo-Vallejo line operating between Vallejo and Rodeo.

One of the fastest growing areas in San Fernando Valley, is the section known as West Van Nuys, about two miles west of the Van Nuys townsite. About two years ago only one house was in the district. Now West Van Nuys is a small hamlet all by itself, with a record of one new house being started daily for the last several months, according to reports.

Seeking a free supply of food in the mountains of Modoc county, the Indian tribes of that district, according to word from Cedarville, have organized drives, resulting in the slaughter of 9,500 rabbits in the last ten days. In addition to the bountiful food supply, the Indian hunters have been paid a county bounty of 5 cents each for destruction of the animals.

Forecasting the heaviest automobile tourist travel into California from the east through San Bernardino county in 1926 in history, Hottel, cultural Commissioner John P. Joy announced that the first ten months of this year a greater number of automobiles was checked at the Daggett quarantine station than during any twelve months since this station was opened.

The Sonoma Properties Company, owner of Boyes Springs, Sonoma county, awarded a contract for the construction of a two and three story frame and stucco hotel building with the roof, to be erected at Boyes Springs. The structure is designed in the Spanish style of architecture. It will contain 200 rooms, with baths and will cost about $200,000.

Bones of Chinese, sealed in boxes in the usual way for shipment to the Flowering Kingdom, yesterday found their way to the Marysville city dumps, and were later recovered. The boxes, holding the bones, formerly used as an undertaking establishment, and during the year 1910 were overlooked at shipping time. Workmen engaged in cleaning the rear room of the former charnel house followed orders to take everything to the dumps. Noting the sealed boxes, curious visitors to the dumps opened one. The bones go to China in the next shipment.

Imbedded in fossil rock thousands of years old, impressions of leaves and pine needles have been uncovered in the Calistoga Petrified Forest by two University of California scientists, Dr. Ralph Chaney, paleobotanist, and Dr. Willis Jepson of the botany department. Thirty feet under ground they made a discovery which geologists and botanists regard as important. Fossil rock was turned up which bore distinct impressions of the Sequoia foliage and the leaves of the coast live oak. These foliage casts in the formation give a more definite evidence than any other scientific material yet discovered of the kind of trees which flourished in the great forest about one million years ago.

During National Apple Week, which closed November 13, committees from the Watsonville Kiwanis Club distributed apples to more than 50,000 passengers who passed through Watsonville Junction on Southern Pacific trains. Members of the club met every train during the day and saw that each passenger had one or more apples with the compliments of the club and the packers and growers of the valley. The closing day apple cider also was served to all passengers. It was supplied by the manufacturer, Grant Cornell, and was served by a bevy of high school girls.

Dredging operations for the Ford Motor Company plant at the harbor line between the cities of Los Angeles and Long Beach are well under way. The Ford project will cover forty acres and will be by far the largest manufacturing enterprise on the Pacific Coast. Although the detailed plans of the factory have not yet arrived from the engineering offices of the Ford Motor Company in Detroit, it is obvious from the scope of the plans now being followed that several millions of dollars will be invested here by the great Detroit automobile concern.

The Jackson City Band at Jackson, Amador county, will celebrate its golden jubilee Saturday, December 11th, and is making extensive plans for the occasion. There will be a number of features. It is planned to have a band concert in the evening given by the Jackson Women's Band and the City Band. The entire event will conclude with a grand ball. The Jackson City Band was organized in 1876 by Wallace Kay and has been an active organization since the date when it first started its activities.

The fall meeting of the California Press Association was held in San Francisco. Approximately 200 editors and their wives from all parts of the state were in attendance. Vital subjects were discussed and many instructive papers were read before the convention. Gov. Friend W. Richardson, president of the association, presided. Through the courtesy of the Henry Duffy Players, the convention, en masse, witnessed one of the best comedies ever shown in San Francisco, "Alias the Deacon."

The freakish wind which did some damage recently at Victor, two miles east of Lodi, gave one man a free ride before it lifted and disappeared in an eastward direction. The damage was confined to nonresidential buildings in the outskirts of the town. John Giegler, a ranch hand, was trapped by the big whirlwind-like disturbance, lifted from the ground and unceremoniously dropped 200 feet away in a corn field. He escaped with bruises.

A movement designed to place the operating properties to the power companies back on the county assessment rolls has been launched by the members of the Plumas County Board of Supervisors, who have asked Butte County to join with them in the movement. Residents of Plumas declare that the mountain counties where hydroelectric plants are operating are discriminated against under the present method of taxation.

The Western Fruit Company, Redlands, packers and shippers of California fruits, has purchased the packing house which was formerly owned by the Redlands Heights company. They are spending several thousand dollars in repairs to the house, and also putting in the late type of machinery for packing oranges and will have a capacity of four cars of fruit each day, officials said.

Building permits for the four peninsula cities of Palo Alto, Redwood City, San Mateo and Burlingame for October totaled the sum of $719,246, as against $564,721 for October, 1925. San Mateo led with a total of $393,744 for October, 1926. Palo Alto followed with a total of $129,432 in building permits. Redwood City was next with a total of $99,320, followed by Burlingame with a total of $96,250.

Beauties of the Sequoia National Park have their drawbacks. Dan Purrell of Oakland dreamed of a small apple orchard just outside the park and bought 100 acres in Lake Canyon without seeing it. Two years ago he tried to find the land, without success, and has just located it in the largest pile of rocks in that section of the Sierras.

Recommendations that a fixed appropriation be made for future maintenance of the state prison road construction camps, where honor prisoners are allowed to work on a wage basis, will be made to the 1927 legislature by experts on highway and prison affairs, it was learned at Sacramento recently from reliable sources.

Although the bond issue to erect a memorial hall failed at the last election, plans are to be formulated at St. Helena, whereby St. Helena may have a much better memorial to the boys who gave their lives overseas.

Pigeon Flock Lost

Twelve hundred homing pigeons were released at a point near Bordeaux recently and it was expected that they would alight in their cotes in England in the course of a few hours. The distance is only four hundred miles, which is not much of an accomplishment for a homing pigeon. But the persons interested in the flight are puzzled to know what became of the birds for not one was located. The only explanation is that the entire flock was caught in a storm and carried out to sea and were unable to return. This would be a satisfactory explanation, but there was no evidence of a storm in the vicinity at that time.

Big Apple Crop Bad for Doctors

DOCTORS will have an easy winter on the theory that "an apple a day keeps a doctor away," says the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, for according to the latest official figures, the apple crop will be a bumper one. A total of 242,000,000 bushels will be produced, the government report states. Last year the crop amounted to only 172,000,000 bushels, while the average crop for the last five years was 170,000,000 bushels, the Foundation points out. Most of

BALBOA THEATRE

Flashy, vigorous and extremely human is "Stranded in Paris," Bebe Daniels' Paramount comedy of Parisian life which comes to Balboa theatre for three days starting today.

Supported by James Hall, Ford Sterling and Iris Stuart, Miss Daniels fresh from her triumph in "The Campus Flirt," which shattered attendance records in practically every city it appeared, has contributed one of the most deliciously peppery performances ever witnessed on a screen.

Mary Jane and Dolores Lopez will return in a dance number in the costume of "Felix" the cat. Frank O'Farrell, popular singer and the Sunkist Beauties are other important members of the cast.

Something new and different is offered at the Balboa theatre for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—a Black Bottom Contest Dance, open to any contestant in San Diego, and also the opportunity to learn to dance the Black Bottom with Fanchon and Marco girls as teachers.

Here is your chance. Register immediately at the Balboa theatre, and try and win one of the big prizes offered for the best exhibition of this newest craze which has been introduced by Fanchon and Marco at the Balboa theatre.

For the screen attraction, Monday, Tuesday Wednesday, and Thursday, Paramount offers God Gave Me Twenty Cents, the picture sensation of the year, starring Jack Muhlall, Lois Moran and Lya de Putti, the great German screen star.

CABRILLO THEATRE

Mary Pickford will lead a frolicsome crew of gamins to the Cabrillo theatre today in "Sparrows," her newest and most dramatic film.

"Sparrows" tells a grippingly absorbing story of adventures on a queer farm in the southern swamp country. Some suggestion of the special effort expended in making the new Pickford film may be had from the fact that this swamp set alone required transplantation of six hundred trees and wholesale hanging of Spanish moss for background. It was especially built for the picture under direction of Harry Oliver.

Among the hectic adventures of these youngsters on the baby farm with a veritable Scrooge of a tyrant in much that suggests Dickens in certain characters. Through all the comedy and heart interests in the treacherous swamp scenes, with live alligators a foot from tiny legs, stalks the implacable "Grimes."

LATEST ORDER
FOR RUBBISH DISPOSAL
CAUSES PROTEST

Ocean Beach, Dec. 15, 1926.
Editor, "The Beach News."

Sir: Some of the streets at Ocean Beach have been finished at great expense, and the citizens who live along these streets have paid for it, and take pride in keeping them clean and respectable. Also, between those streets are alleys by which we reach our garages with autos, and also for the use of garbage and rubbish trucks. Some of these alleys are good roads, while others are not, and in the latter case the rubbish etc., is placed on the side of the street for the present. Between Voltaire and Muir (finished streets) there is a good alley, which has always been used for these purposes, especially in Blocks 11 and 12. In Block 12 there are 24 residences. Lately orders have been issued to the teams not to drive through these alleys, but all the rubbish is to be carried out to the front, where the wind can litter the streets with old papers, trash, etc. And this many absolutely refuse to do, as there is no reason for it. Who gave such an order anyway?

ZENAS.

ONE FOR RAIN EXPERTS
Editor, The Beach News.

Sir: I want information regarding the measurement of rainfall. For this last storm the weather man give less than two inches, while in a pail I set on the fence, there is six inches for the same time. I have often noticed the same results. How come?

Virginia Ham is never better than when baked with Hawaiian pineapple.

Use slices of ham one inch thick.

They must be soaked in warm water for at least an hour before using.

Then drain them and sprinkle with

Then pour a cup of crushed or grated

HOLIDAY HODGE-PODGE

It was midnight on the ocean,
Not a street car was in sight,
The sun was shining brightly,
It rained that day all night.

'Twas a summer day in winter,
Snowflakes came down like glass,
And a barefoot boy with shoes on
Stood sitting on the grass.

It was evening, and the rising sun
Was setting in the west.
While little fishes in the trees
Were huddled in their nest.

"RAY as you enter" and "Leave all hope behind ye who enter here," are the signs scrawled on the doors. Where the glass in the windshield used to be is a piece of cardboard bearing the information "Temporarily out of service." A bit of intelligence painted on the hood, warns: "Engine Room—Keep Out!" And almost invariably some place on the ancient bit of wreckage flaunts the legend, "Four wheels—No brakes."

Yes, it seems that all the younger generation of humorists of the republic are riding in second to tenth-hand automobiles. On every available surface they have set forth rare gems of wit done with paint and chalk.

Among the wise cracks currently popular, we find these:

I'm Shiftless But Not Lazy.
Fierce Arrow with a Quiver.
Little Go Creep.
So's Your Wild Oats.
Dis Squeals—Muh Junk.
An Ancient Looking For a Place to Happen.

One More Payment and She's Mine.
Why Girls Walk Home.
Don't Laugh, You May Be Old and Feeble Yourself, Some Day.

This Car Stops for Blondes, Brunettes and Railway Crossings.
Speed On, Big Boy, Hell Ain't Half Full.

This Can Contains Gasoline.
Mrs. Frequently.

In the cities you see hundreds of these dilapidated motor chariots, metamorphosed by the ravages of time and the ingenuity of their pilots into actual works of art. And it's a rare country town that doesn't boast at least one or two of these wit wagons.

No one knows where this quaint custom started or when. Some say it was the college boys who began the art, and possibly it was, for it is the college town today which boasts the largest representation of these metaphorical monsters.

Columbia university, New York city, possesses one of the most famous of these articulate junk heaps. The property of Clinton Campbell, a junior at the university, it is famous because recently the New York newspapers devoted nearly half a column to an exposition of its charms.

Painted a flaming red, this Ford has been rechristened "Passion 8." It is also labeled "Columbia, the Gem of the Motion." Young Campbell purchased it for $12 from the New York Street Car company in 1915. Included in the purchase price was a can of red paint, used for decorating street cars.

A sign on the back of this masterpiece reads "Follow us for genuine Ford parts." This, however, is slightly misleading as the "Passion 8" boasts a Roamer back, which cost 35 cents, upon which is painted the warning "Danger: 6,000 Jolts." Below is a death's head.

Among other things this car contains a Dodge piston, a Chevrolet top, which cost nothing, as it was salvaged from a wrecked car; two Packard seat cushions at 25 cents per squat, a magneto that cost $3 and a tire that was lifted from a junk pile, and so far has gone more than 100 miles.

A sign on the back of the "Passion 8" reads, "Don't Laugh, Big Boy, Ours Is Paid For." On the running board is the insignia in Greek letters of Pi Kappa Alpha, Campbell's fraternity. On the other running board, one reads: "Rambling Wreck From Georgia Tech."

The front door, marked "Main Entrance," is hooked in place by an ingenious triumph of engineering which defies description. The left-hand door is captioned, "This Door Not Working." Printed on the left side of the rusted hood is the declaration: "Honest Weight—No Springs." On the right, "Engine Room—Keep Out." Another sign reads: "Every Knock Is a Boost."

The tall light of the "Passion 8" is a red kerosene lantern "borrowed" from a steam roller. Over one of the rear doors is a huge "Exit" sign.

Relating the car's eventful history to interested listeners who had stopped to inspect his rare model, Campbell explained that it had crossed the continent five times, has been to Mexico and to Canada, spent two years on the campus at Georgia Tech, and will continue to grace the campus at Columbia as long as it holds together. It has covered 70,000 miles since it came into Campbell's possession, and he says that it can attain a speed of 70 miles an hour, and go 42 miles on a gallon of gasoline. What enables it to perform these remarkable feats, Campbell failed to indicate. When he leaves it standing alone while he goes to class, he always takes out a handful of parts from the motor, so that no one can start the car.

"The Passion 8" is mechanically perfect," Campbell declared, "but it looks like h—l."

Like Campbell's "Passion 8," most of the joke autos around the country have interesting histories. Rarely, if ever, are they owned by the original purchasers, who, if they were to come upon what once were their bright, newly-painted vehicles, would find them impossible of recognition. On the other hand, the present owners know little or nothing of their cars' early history. Pedigrees are not included in the bill of sale. They bear no guarantees, and no satisfaction whatsoever is promised. You take it or leave it, and if you take it, the fun begins.

Prices for cars suitable for writing purposes range from $5 to $50 per hundred or so pieces miraculously held together until the sale is completed. The condition of the pieces, of course, determines the price. A car with four inflated tires will bring more than a car with four flat ones.

Brahmaputra. The source of this river he found was derived from the snows around the dangerous Kronjon pass, which he is the first white man to have crossed, it is believed.

Value in Fatness

According to the accident insurance companies, fat people get hurt less often than thin ones. Possibly the explanation is that when a fat man falls he bounces back into some degree of safety. The thin one breaks a bone or is stepped on by the crowd.

A motor which hits on all four cylinders with scarcely more noise than a war-time boiler factory is likely to bring a higher price than a motor which lacks a cylinder head or a radiator and won't run in its present condition at all.

Possession of a top, either one man or six, adds little to the value of this type of car in the prospective purchaser's estimation. He'll rip it off, anyway. Tops simply aren't being worn.

Prospective purchasers generally shy away from cars which are known to be afflicted with differential gearstrips. To remedy this ailment requires costly treatment which generally amounts to more than the entire value of the car. But in many cases this defect does not manifest itself until after the car has changed hands, and its ultimate discovery is often attended with startling results.

Recently in Ithaca, N. Y., the seat of Cornell university, the slogan, "Four Wheels—No Brakes," described an actual condition. Several sophomore members of Sigma Phi fraternity own an ancient model which had been performing faithfully. One morning Glendon Gerlach, a member of the syndicate which financed the purchase of this pile of iron, with a companion was driving "Pansy" through a hilly section of the town. Suddenly without warning something went wrong with "Pansy's" gears, leaving the plunging car brakeless on a steep grade.

The companion abandoned the vehicle as it gathered speed, but young Gerlach, clutching the wheel, stuck to his post. Pulling on the so-called "emergency brake" was merely a futile gesture. At the bottom of the hill the car raced across the intersection which fortunately at the moment was clear. Just ahead at the left was the mouth of a narrow street which offered a steep up-grade. Gerlach steered for it and gradually the car came to a halt, but only for an instant. Then it started down the hill backward. Before it had gained much speed, however, the frightened lad twisted the steering wheel and backed the wild mount into the curb. Here it halted with a crash, breaking a wheel or so and cracking the axle. Late the boys have been walking to their classes.

Civic authorities may well be concerned over the hazards offered to life and limb by a great many of these decrepit vehicles. Rarely are they insured. Liability insurance, even if the underwriters would accept the risk, would cost more than the car.

But the boys have a great time with them, and as long as there is a dollar among the crowd to purchase gas and a cut-price tire store or a junkheap to provide tires, these rattling vehicles will grace our streets and highways, amusing us with their belabored wit and terrifying us with their menace to our safety.

Wind and Shorn Lamb

Contrary to the popular belief, the quotation, "God tempests the wind to the shorn lamb," is not a Bible verse. It is an old proverb of unknown authorship. The earliest known use of it appears in Laurence Stern's "Sentimental Journey." But there it is quoted, showing that Stern did not claim it as his own.

OSTRICH GRACES FORMAL FROCKS; SHOW NOVEL STYLING IN PAJAMAS

NOW that society is banqueting, dancing, attending opera and making merry until the "wee sma' hours" of the morn, the mode is called upon to devise beauteous gowns for each lovely occasion. One of the fascinating fashions for evening this season is the pastel-colored supple velvet or chiffon frock graced with long flues of self-colored ostrich.

Sometimes a shoulder ornament of the ostrich complements that which accents the modish irregular hemline. A very delightful evening frock of pale-green shaded chiffon recently arrived from across seas showed not only ostrich about the hemline in deep points and at the shoulder, but a third touch was added in the way of a monture of ostrich at the girdle.

The exquisite mauve panne velvet evening gown in this picture, which is a Doucet creation, artistically accents a unique hemline with drooping ostrich flues. There is an introduction of silver embroidery on the blouse front, with a knotted detail of velvet at the waistline, which are effective.

It is apparent throughout the evening mode that ostrich plays a very important role. Not only is the formal gown and wrap of velvet lavishly embellished with ostrich, but milady is of old, we are liking the so-called "sleeping" pajamas right well. Maybe the popularity of pajamas is due to the fact that they present a never-ending opportunity to express novelty in their styling. Perhaps it is because they are so comfortable and practical. Whatever the cause, pajamas have found a recognized place among modern lingerie.

As a Christmas gift to one's nearest and dearest girl friend, pajamas ought to solve the problem most happily. Something we make our very own selves is always so deeply appreciated.

ated. Why not buy some pretty material and copy one or the other of the models shown in this picture? The model to the left was designed by that distinguished couturier, Madame Lanvin. It is developed of Brittany blue crepe de chine, with broad sash in oriental effect.

There is a decided charm in the one-piece pajamas offered by Lelong as shown here to the right. One finds a novelty touch in material and general design quite to one's liking when it comes to the intimate robes of one's boudoir. Therefore the mammoth polka dots of the crepe de chine seem just the thing for pajamas which youth delights to don. The quaint

Buster Brown collar and tie, also the gipsy sash are charming details warranted to please any young girl who delights in cunning frivolities, such as the mode calls "clown" pajamas.

Appearing among the latest models are the "Mexican" pajamas as the creator of this type is pleased to call them. They are thus captioned on account of the decided flare at the bottom of the trousers, this being characteristic of the native Mexican costume.

Interest is mostly centered just now in the tailored pajama. These pajamas are often composed of two contrasting materials, a solid color bordering a figured fabric, is popular.

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl.

Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon.

Girls who work in factories know just how Miss Schmidt felt. Perhaps they, too, will find better health by taking the Vegetable Compound.

Few people are as smart as other people think they are.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

A survey of the little known regions between the upper Yangtze and Brahmaputra rivers on the borderlands of China, Tibet and Assam has recently been completed by D'Arcy Wetherbee, Asiatic explorer. Prohibition agents at Spokane, Wash., found liquor was being smuggled across the Canadian border hidden in a car of coal, and after a pistol battle they caught three men and a woman and seized whisky valued at $10,000 and four automobiles. For the first time in history another flag flew from the same mast with the Stars and Stripes on the United States capitol building on Armistice day. It is a service flag donated by the Gold Star Mothers on which is written the number of American boys who failed to come back from "Over There." This photograph shows Mrs. H. H. LUCKIEST OF WOMEN

They say "she is the luckiest woman on earth," this Mrs. William Jones of Covington, Ky. She has won over $1,000 in contest money so far this year. She has been winning for three years past some two dozen or more contest prizes. Proverb contests, prize essays, guessing contests, all come easy for her. She is in every nationally advertised contest and spends two evenings each week working over her answers. Her latest annexation was a $500 prize for telling people why they should eat salmon, which was given by the National Salmon Packers' association.

Things to Make or Buy for Christmas

A Pretty Work Basket

This highly decorative work basket makes a charming gift that every woman will love. It is made of paper rope, in a dark brown shade that will harmonize with any woodwork, or furnishings, and requires a wire standard and frame for the basket. The rope is woven over this, leaving open spaces about the sides. A gay cretonne forms the lining and is gathered into a brown silk tassel at the bottom and closed with draw strings of brown silk cord at the top.

New Ribbon Fancies

For Christmas gifts, purses, card cases and all sorts of fancy bags, neatly and ingeniously made of ribbon, come into bloom as regularly as poinsettias and Christmas trees. Here are two of this year's contributions—a flat envelope purse of black moire ribbon and a little melon-shaped work bag. The envelope purse has two flat pockets and fastens with snap fasteners under a flap that bears a rhinestone ornament. Sections of light satin ribbon with black diamond-shaped applique form the bag, that is left open between the handles of narrow ribbon.

Conceals a Gift

This demure colonial dame, with her quaint poke bonnet, conceals a box of talcum powder and provokes pleasant and grateful thoughts at the same time. Crepe paper, narrow ribbon and wire are required for her costuming. Her head is made of a bit of domestic stuff with cotton, the pretty face painted on with water colors, topped by curly, artificial hair.

Gift for the Housewife

Here is a group of new holders to hang near the kitchen stove ready to serve a double purpose; for they are decorative as well as useful. They are made of gay cretonne, showing black stripes and bright flowers, on a white background. Each holder is bound with braid and has a little brass ring sewed to one corner, to hang it by. A small bar of wood is covered with the cretonne and carries four small hooks screwed into it, to support the rings. This is a gift that every housewife will appreciate.

When Howard was asked the reason for the knots, he replied:

Americans Eat Less Bread

If Americans ate as much bread as they did 25 years ago, more than 25,000,000 additional barrels of flour would be consumed annually, says Capper's Weekly. A food survey indicates more than one-fifth of the flour formerly consumed has been replaced by sugar and other more expensive foods, like milk, meat, fruits, oils, fresh fruits and fresh vegetables. Another reason may be that the finely bolted and bleached flour of the present time does not make near as palatable or as wholesome bread as did the old grist mill's product.

Monday, Dec. 20th is the day set aside for the card party to be given at the Mission Beach Ball Room by the Mission Beach Woman's Club. Guests may play bridge or 500 as they prefer. In addition there will be entertainment of the most enjoyable kind. Mrs. Bertram C. Sutton, who is chairman of the drama with the southern district and County Federation of Women's Clubs, will present the fantasy, "Pierrot and Columbine," and Miss Ann Bunting, will sing. Prizes will be worth while and refreshments will be served by the Mission Beach Casino. There will also be a turkey raffle. The party is under the management of Mrs. Wm. S. Hunt. Tickets at a very nominal price may be procured from any of the officers or at 3792 Mission Blvd. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Eugene Paynter, Pacific 771.

AMUSEMENT CENTER PRAISED

The December issue of the National Motorist has an article by Margaret Romer, entitled, "The Charm of Southern Beaches," which says in part as follows: "Mission Beach, a little more than two years ago was a waste stretch of sand dunes. Today it is one of the show places of San Diego. Its amusement center has every convenience that is known to modern builders. Its buildings are not only permanent and large, but artistic, with none of the shacks that usually characterize a new beach."

WOMAN'S SWIMMING CLUB

Because of the members demand for more calisthenics and swimming instruction, the Mission Beach Women's Swimming class will add Monday to its schedule of sessions which includes Wednesday and Fridays, providing the group with three meetings each week. At present the class has about 50 members who meet every Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 10:30 o'clock on the beach just west of the bath house, where they engage in calisthenics, then going to the plunge where L. C. Fleetwood gives them instruction in swimming. Accommodations are available for a much larger enrollment, and it is expected that with the reduced rates of 35c to members of the class, the membership will greatly increase.

NEW MEMBERSHIP RULES OF AMARANTH ORDER

A large attendance, including several members from this section, was present at "Advance of Officers Evening," at San Diego Court, Order of the Amaranth, the meeting being held at Masonic temple in San Diego Tuesday evening. Mrs. Nannie K. Heider, the present Royal Matron, who has a cottage on the bay in Mission Beach, was Santa Claus hostess in a Christmas family party after the meeting around beautifully decorated tables and banquet hall settings. Among those attending from this section were Mr. and Mrs. E. Paynter and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Casteele. Under the new rules of this Order the immediate feminine relatives of a member of the Masonic fraternity is eligible to membership without first becoming a member of any other Masonic affiliation.

DON'T BOSS: Some parents "boss," either because its their nature or they think the "big noise" goes with the little one, or, they want to impress the child with the idea of what wonderful persons they are. It does not take a child long to put you in your proper class and to know just how much your bossing amounts to. Your bossing, of the kind I refer to, is a blank cartridge. Noise, but nothing doing.

Bossing and guiding are two different things. Guide, but give the child some leeway to exercise his own judgment under your guidance. When this course is followed he will not have so hard a time deciding questions when grown up.

Be sure, too, that you are right before you insist upon your way. By wrong bossing you can break or warp a child's will, which is one of the most important elements he will need later on in life.

As Faith, Hope and Charity is a sheet anchor in adult life, so we may make love, persuasion and guidance the leading trinity in child-raising.

Then, again, don't be continually stopping what a child may be doing. A father was once sitting reading or writing with his little son in the next room. Every few minutes the father would cry out, "Don't Johnny, don't Johnny." Finally the child answered, "Don't do what, father?" "I don't know what, but whatever it is, don't do it." While your child may possibly be annoying you he may be beginning or carrying on the thing that's going to bring him to great success in life.

Find why they want to be doing that particular thing, it may lead to a gold mine and fame for them. Above all things don't stop a child from asking questions. One inquisitive child is worth half a dozen or more, of the indifferent kind. If you can't answer the question right off, look it up. It will be good for you, as well as the child. These days there are books that can answer about every question the most inquisitive child can ask.

(Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation)

Wheat and flour are synonymous in the minds of many. As a matter of fact, however, forty per cent of our mammoth wheat crop never leaves the farm at all, but is used for seed purposes and feeding farm animals, states the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in a survey recently completed on wheat consumption. It is used most abundantly for feeding in those sections of the country having a wheat surplus and a shortage of the usual feed crops such as corn, oats and barley. The poorer qualities of wheat, not suited for making flour, are kept behind for this purpose.

Chickens are the heaviest consumers of wheat fed on the farm using 59.1% of all wheat so distributed.

Swine are next, with 29.1%. In wheat-growing sections horses are fed wheat and consume on an average 5.4% of all wheat fed on the farm, while the remaining 6.4% goes to cattle.
